1944 HI-WAYS

PUBLISHED BY THE SENIOR CLASS OF WADESBORO HIGH SCHOOL

LAURA GENE TAFT, Editor

BETTY LOU CRAWFORD, Business Manager

FOREWORD

THIS edition of HI-WAYS was published as a memorial to the class of '44, which had a great beginning, wholesome and strong-hearted, traveling onward happily through life to its goal—success. Now our roads cross and climb to hopes, joys, and peace. Through our difficult problems and uncertain tomorrows may it help to keep the memories of the spirit of Wadesboro High School foremost in our minds. It is with this aim that we present the 1944 HI-WAYS.

Ethel Dunlap Bennett (Mrs. W. W. B.)

DEDICATION

WE, THE STAFF, dedicate this, our 1944 edition of HI-WAYS, to Mrs. W. W. Bennett, in respectful and affectionate recognition of her long service and devotion to our Senior Class and the entire student body of Wadesboro Schools.

CLASS OF 1944

CLASS POEM

*It is only a milestone that we now reach,
In our pursuit of knowledge and success
A milestone which marks the honors
we've gained
Through our effort in W. H. S.
It has been a long and happy pace,
And now that the end is near,
We hate to leave, but we know that we must,
For our struggle just begins with
this year.
We have proven that we have the ability,
And if we work, things will wind
our way,
Our goal will be reached if we take
sincere effort,
In the tasks undertaken each day.*

T. D. BURNS

CLASS SONG

*Tune: The Story of a Starry Night
This ends the story of our Senior Class,
The faded glory of the years gone
past.
We've been together and we will never Forget the memories of our school days.
And now as Seniors we must say
"Good-bye".
Through all the long years that
ahead do lie
We'll pray that someday, life will in
some way
Bring back together class of '44.
We'll pray that someday life will in
some way
Bring back together class of '44.*

CLASS HISTORY

CORNELIA WINFREE
Class Historian

ONE LONG JOURNEY of the class of 1944 has been completed—another is just beginning.

It was a bright, sunny September morning in 1932 that a group of rather shy youngsters began an important journey—a twelve mile journey on the “Hi-Way of Knowledge.” Mrs. Liles and Miss Plunkett started this group on the right road and helped them over their first mile. Mrs. Baughan and Miss Webb carried them safely over the second mile. Mrs. Gray, Miss Crowder, and Miss Cameron pointed out the “signs” on the third mile. The fourth mile was traveled under the leadership of Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Fogleman.

The completion of the fourth mile meant a transfer from the grammar building to the high-school building. Miss Pinkston and Mrs. Allen saw that the journey was resumed and the important “signs” indicated. Mr. Lewis became their chief guide on this mile. Every year the road seemed to broaden and the journey became rougher, but this didn’t stop the group, and the sixth mile was made smoother by the careful guidance of Miss Boggan and Mrs. Bennett. The seventh mile brought something new and different. The members of the group were given the privilege of changing classes which gave them that “grown up” feeling. Mrs. Gulledge, Miss Cunningham, Miss Stansell, and Miss Thompson were their guides over this mile. The “signs” along the eighth mile indicated that another change would be made. The school band was started during this year and many members of the group joined it and made much progress under the leadership of the band director, Mr. Cartier. They also received their “passports” to the Big Hi-way, high school, on the day of their graduation from junior high. Other guides on this eighth mile were Mr. Howell, Miss Johnson, Miss Stough, Miss Stan-sell, Mrs. Gullledge, Miss Cunningham, and Miss Spence.

A very eager and yet rather green group entered the Big Hi-way. Their ninth mile was not to be an easy one, for many new subjects were introduced to them. Under the capable leadership of Miss Johnson, Mr. Wildermuth, Miss Kirby, Mr. Bennett, Miss Spence, Miss Plonk, Miss Hinson, and Mr. Hicks they conquered the rough spots. The tenth mile was darkened by war clouds, but this made the group more eager to complete their journey. Miss Kirby, Miss Fink, Mr. Cooley, Mr. Wildermuth, Miss Craig, Miss Johnson, Miss Treadwell, Mr. Howell, Miss Allen, Mr. Bennett, and Mr. Snuggs saw to it that they kept on the right road. This was Mr. Snuggs' last year as a guide on this journey for he resigned at the end of this mile.

The eleventh mile brought them to their junior year which was important. Many of the boys making this important journey had to make a slight detour, for Uncle Sam needed them to do a more important job for him. A Victory Corps was organized for the juniors and seniors. Mrs. Wall, Miss Cunningham, Mrs. Wildermuth, and Mr. Lewis taught the girls first-aid and dietetics, while Mr. Cashion gave the boys a sample of what military drill was like in the Army. Coach Shelton, along with Misses Kirby and Fink, had the job of seeing that every member was physically fit. A very important event took place this year—the junior-senior banquet. Much time and effort were used in preparing for this successful affair. Other leaders on this mile were Mrs. Merritt, who remained with them but a short time, Mr. Warlick, her successor, Miss Holder, Miss Johnson, Miss Kirby, Miss Fink, and Miss Allen.

The last mile was far from being easy. Many changes had been made in the faculty of the previous mile. Mr. Terrell succeeded Mr. Wildermuth as principal, and Miss Sturgis, also a newcomer, was the senior sponsor. It was under her careful guidance that the seniors completed the last mile. The Victory Corps was continued under the leadership of Mrs. Wall, Mr. Shelton, and Mr. Cashion. Other leaders in the final lap were Miss Banta, Miss Caraway, Mr. Terrell, Miss Mintz, Miss Temple, and Mr. Paling.

Though this group is facing graduation, they will look back over this great journey and forever cherish the memories they carry with them from it.

LAST WILL and TESTAMENT

To All Whom This May Concern:

We, the class of 1944, supposedly in sound body and mind, being dismissed from our years of hard labor, mixed with our mischief, joys, and fun, which we have undergone in Wadesboro High School, do hereby make, execute, and publish our last will and testament as follows:

To Mr. Lewis, our guiding light during every year, our most sincere appreciation and thanks for all his help.

To Mr. Terrell, our ever wise-cracking principal, except when he has a headache, we leave our hopes that we have not run him crazy to the point of typing with two fingers and our wishes that with the aid of his smile, "talking hands," and "coal-burner," he can win any prize for which he strives.

To Miss Sturgis, our kind senior advisor, our desires that she won't forget the class of '44 in years to come.

To the Juniors we do bequeath our many Senior privileges in hopes that they will enjoy them as much as we did.

I, Elizabeth Lockhart, do leave my dimpled smile to Mary Frances Lowe.

I, Frank Tucker, do leave my loud sport coats to anyone who will walk to Belk's and get them.

I, Lomie Lou Mills, do leave my ability to get money for ads to the next business manager of the paper so that it may continue to be free. My laugh goes along with this, of course.

I, Wofford Lewis, do leave my place as driver of the car to back-seat Billy.

I, Frances Ashcraft, do leave my ability to make up non-sensible poems to Caroline Gullledge.

I, "Coot" May, do leave my place on the football team to Harold Edwards.

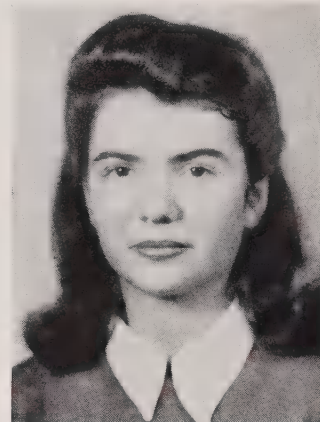

I, Bet Crawford, do leave my ability to make extemporaneous speeches to Richard Clark.

I, Joe Ross, do leave my love for girls to "Bunk" Hill and Tommy Hart.

I, Laura Gene Taft, do leave Bill to all the girls in the rising senior class.

I, J. B. Watson, do leave my height to James Bert Thomas.

I, Peggy Pruette, do leave my popularity among students to the teacher giving the hardest exam.

JOYCE CARAWAY,
Testator

I, T. D. Burns, do leave my "flexible bones" to Thomas Wall.

I, Dabney Little, do leave my dry wit to Margaret Tucker.

I, Bobby Anderson, do leave my hair- tonic bottle to Lloyd Britt.

I, Becky Hundley, do leave my ability to "Charleston" to Sarah Lou Thompson.

I, Roderick Baker, do leave my "bang-up" skill of driving a motorcycle to Dewitt Flack.

I, Cornelia Winfree, do leave my continual good humor to Elaine Bennett.

I, C. B. Gray, do leave my bass horn to Billy Muldrow.

I, Sara Covington, do leave my infectious laugh to Peggy Hardison.

I, Jimmie Smith, do leave my cheery whistle to Billy Surratt.

I, Martha Burns, do leave my favorite expression, "I don't get it," to Margaret Smith.

We, Sylvia Hill and Margaret Mills, do leave our good friendship to Milly Williamson and Juanita Johnson.

I, Margaret Martin, do leave my soft ball "swing" to Inda Hildreth.

We, Ada Ruth Pruitt, Laura Talent and Margaret Terry, do leave our good times in study-hall to Agnes Crawford, Lula Stanback and Rosa Little.

I, Joyce Caraway, do leave my hopes that the guys and gals who follow us in Wadesboro High School will miss me as much as I shall miss them and that their high school years will be as pleasant as mine were.

In witness whereof we, the said Class of 1944, do to this last will and testament, set our seal this day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and forty-four.

MARGARET MILLS
Prophet

This is station W. H. S. calling the people of America to listen to and see the reunion of the class of '44. I, Margaret Mills, the announcer, will tell you about the members of our class who have gathered here from all over the world. You, the audience, may see them by the use of that modern invention, television, perfected by the eminent scientist, Joe Ross.

The music "Out of This World" that you heard as we came on the air was played by America's most accomplished orchestra of today, the Watson Symphony. It is conducted by J. B. Watson.

Martha Burns, the singing star of the opera, Mairzy Doats and Doazy Doats, made her excellent debut with his orchestra on the stage in Chicago recently.

The introductory speech will be given by the famous world news commentator, Joe B. Lewis. He has broadcast from many stations in North and South America and Europe, and has predicted many of the world-shaking events that have been happening.

Joyce Caraway, who is considered the most promising young dancer on the New York stage, will give a performance. She will be accompanied by the spectacular piano music of Elizabeth Lockhart. "Lib" has just returned from England where she and Frances Ashcraft, the piano concertist from the "deep south", appeared before the king and queen.

Estelle Wright, head of the Public Library of San Francisco, is here to read the famous poem, "To a Field Animal", written by the "Robert Burns of today", T. D.

In order to be with us today, Betty Cloud arrived on a helicopter, designed by Roderick Baker, from South America, where she is the owner of a private school for children. The plane landed on the special landing field constructed by Roscoe Butler on the roof of this building.

CLASS PROPHECY

Sarah Covington, head nurse of the leading hospital for war patients in Berlin, and Virginia Wright, owner of the "Wright Good Southern Bakery" just entered with Cornelia Winfree, the famous dietitian and discoverer of the new vitamin, Food.

The designer of the BB (Business Boys') clothes, Frank Tucker, has come from Paris with Wofford Lewis the business partner of the BB firm. They were accompanied by their secretary, Rebecca Hendley and super-salesman, Eugene Gilmore.

Glenn Flack is owner of the "Rest Well Hotel" that is located only three blocks from this building. It was no trouble for him to get here, but he came in a taxi driven by Margaret Terry, who is a graduate of the "Drivers School". A school of this type was first started in Wadesboro under the direction of Margaret Martin, Laura Talent, and Ruth Curlee.

Ruth Kiser is now president of the "Lonely Hearts Club" in Reno. Her able assistants, Colleen Hildreth, and Jessie Lee Hasty, have helped make this business of supplying men to lonely hearts a success.

On the first floor of this magnificent building, which was designed by D. C. Stiles, is "Our Drug Store and Soda Fountain". This establishment is owned by the successful business man, James Smith. His cashier is Ada Ruth Pruette, and the soda jerker is C. B. Gray. C. B. owns part interest in the firm but runs the fountain because he likes to eat his own concoctions.

All sports fans know Bob Anderson, the football star. He has made quite a name for himself in the "Big League Pigskin Team". Why shouldn't he? The coach is Harry May who has made good use of his athletic ability. Harry has a hobby that few of his fans know about. He is president of the firm "Tops-All Peroxide".

Peggy Pruette is the rising young star made famous by her performance in "Have You Heard This One?" written by Lomie Lou Mills. Bette Lou Crawford is making a success in Hollywood, too, as a make-up artist and costume designer of the studio owned and directed by the energetic and vigorous Wade Childs.

Everything is completed now by the late arrival of Dabney Little. "Dab" is the well known illustrator of the "What's New for You" fashion magazine published by Laura Gene Taft.

WADESBORO HIGH SCHOOL

For many years athletics has been a special feature at Wadesboro High School. This year, with chief Coach Ray Shelton and Assistant Coach W. B. Terrell, the teams have proved themselves outstanding in football, basketball, and baseball.

The main sport of Wadesboro High is football. The Wadesboro "Tigers" have always had a splendid team. Not only have the players been outstanding individually in the game, but also have shown excellent sportsmanship and teamwork. The team was not made up of skilled players, for only a few had had any experience, but they fought hard and saw the end of the season with four victories, five defeats, and two ties. The football team was placed third among the teams competing in the North Carolina Western Conference.

The girls participate in only one sport at W. H. S.—basketball. This year the girls' team was coached by Mr. W. B. Terrell. They began their practicing but a few days before their opening game. This put them at a disadvantage during their whole schedule. They made two wins and twelve losses. The boys' team, coached by Mr. Ray Shelton, made a record of six victories and eight defeats. Both the girls' and boys' teams gave good accounts of themselves, when their handicaps are considered.

Coach Shelton also coaches the baseball team. The season is just beginning as the Hi-WAYS goes to press. The team shows good possibilities for so far they have won 2 games and lost 1.

The students and faculty seem to enjoy the athletics at Wadesboro High School—and why shouldn't they, for, all the players who compose the teams not only have the ability, but also have the determination to do their best in whatever the game demands.
